IMPROVED CRUSHING MACHINE.

C. N. GOODMAN'S LATEST IMPROVEMENT IN MACHINERY FOR CRUSHING, GRIND-ING, AND TRITURATING

Stones, Minerals, Pyrites, and Ores of every kind (dry or wet), Uranium, Flint, Concrete, Pottery, Lough Stuff, Cement, Chemicals, &c.

Also for Washing and Separating Metals from Ores, and Amalgamating Gold

From Quartz.

THESE MACHINES, from their many advantages, qualify them, simplicity, efficiency, and cheapness, combined with superlative strength, is rendered equal to the roughest and most obdurate material, light and easy of transport. The machine stands alone and unrivalled in the world.

If the material is not required to be reduced finer than rough sand, or fine gravel, it may be worked or purchased without the Triturator, the same only being used in the production of fine powder. However, the washing or amalgamating dish will only be needed when ores and quartz are in question.

The importance attached to this Machine is, that it is not applicable to one object only—its advantages may be maintained upon them.

1st.—The Triturator consists of a horizontal ram, mounted on an eccentric, by means of which a crushing and grinding movement is attained.

2nd.—The material is reduced to its required size simply setting the stone free.

3rd.—The two action levers are movable, and can be regulated in a few minutes at a grinding cost, which does not amount to one cent per ton of material.

4th.—Where the Triturator is required, the material passes over a vibrating sieve (as seen in the illustration), the fine falling through, and the coarse passing into the dish below, where it is contained in a hopper.

5th.—The coarse material is constantly poured, the whole being stirred by means of a rotating and tailing piece of iron, which is attached to the top of the dish, intended to catch what remains metal may have escaped amalgamation.

It may also be necessary to state the Triturating discs are constructed in such a way as to suit of long wear, and will work to the last without the slightest injury to the quality of the material.

THE MACHINES ARE MADE IN THREE SIZES.
No. 1. Crushing 20 tons per day of ten hours. Road metal
No. 2. 4 tons of Quartz per 10 hours.
No. 3. Crushing 60 tons per day of ten hours. Producing 4 tons of Quartz per 10 hours.

Extract from "The Engineer," May 12, 1871, page 330
"The ram-head works against a fixed toothed face, and, if there was nothing more, would put into the hopper would be simply crushed between the two—much as in a millstone. But here the similarity ends.
In the ram-head and its character of motion, the crushing action materially facilitates the breaking of the stones, and this crushing action is obtained by mounting the ram-head and its character of motion on an eccentric close to the head. The motion attained by the use of this eccentric produces the precise effect required, very efficiently. All the arrangements are very simple and mechanical and the machine appears to have nothing about it to get out of order. We were much pleased with it."

We see, by our Canadian exchanges that the most lively interest is being taken in reference to the subject of immigration to the various Provinces of the Dominion, British Columbia excepted. All have their agents in the various centres of population, and the work which they are performing cannot be other than of the greatest advantage to the various Provinces thus represented. We have recently been favored with a verbal account of how the several States in the American Union deal with immigration matters, and the results which have followed from the policy they have adopted. We were told with what rapidity the Western States are being filled up; how, as if by magical influence, the wilderness was being made to bud and blossom like the rose; how sites of villages, towns, and cities are being laid and built upon with a rapidity equalled only in the history of the Arabian Knights; and the speaker, upon the occasion referred to, not only dealt some hard hits at British Columbia for want of energy and enterprise, but touching this all-but-barren subject, but volunteered some wholesome advice, which it would be well to bear in mind and turn to good account. Our States files of English exchanges contain reports from various quarters of Great Britain wherein the advantages presented by Canada as a home for working men are being kept prominently before the people of the old country. One of the exchanges referred to devotes considerable space to a lecture delivered in the Town Hall, Newport, by Mr. Thomas Donnelly, of London, a stone mason, on "Work and Wages in Canada," and the remarks of the lecturer are said to have been very favorably received. Mr. Donnelly, commenting on the vast extent of the British possessions in North America, informed his hearers that there was as much good land open to them as would maintain a population of 150,000,000 in comfort and happiness, and give them plenty of room. In going to Canada they were not abandoning the cherished institutions of old England, for Ontario, by arrangement, had been mainly peopled by emigrants from British Isles, who, with their native tongue, had brought out the rapid progress of the country. And the further these people are removed from the mother country, the more intense did their love for it become. The very best men of Ontario, he said, were once Paisley weavers who had been sent out to Canada by subscription and Government assistance, to save transporting them because they had ventured to speak of reform in England. There was plenty of evidence that men who had the pluck to come out to the Dominion to seek homes for themselves, were not likely to be disappointed. Everywhere, farms wholly or partially cleared, might be acquired by men with small capital on easy terms; and as to agricultural laborers, a hundred thousand would be absorbed annually without diminishing the labor market. The facility with which laborers and mechanics might acquire a plot of ground of their own, in towns and cities, was pointed out. The speaker also called attention to the excellent system of education, wise and economical government, security for life and property, and the encouragement of the people to the institutions of the other country. Another lecturer in the field is Mr. Thomas Potts, a commissioner from Canada, whose lecture on "Canada, the Best Home for Immigrant Emigrants," we find reported in the Rocheville Times. It was the aim of Mr. Potts to show his hearers why they should turn their thoughts to Canada rather than to the United States. In the former they would find taxation much lighter, the climate more healthful, and living much cheaper; there were villages to be erected, and villages to be built; and there were wanted to do this men who would be the leaders in the enterprise. Those who joined in it might do so with great benefit to themselves, for so country could equal Canada in clothing men who had risen from the west to the highest ranks. There was nothing for all, and with this very great advantage to Englishmen, that they might remain under the old flag, and retain their nationality. This was not so in the United States, for if Englishmen went there they were lost to their mother country, their surplus money being to build up a foreign power. He maintained that the utilization of the land was far from being so difficult as it was represented to be; and in concluding his lecture, he again pointed out his object—endeavor to turn the tide of emigration from America to Canada, and assured his hearers that if any of them would seek a farm in Canada, he would be perfect independence in a few years, and would be able to take care for the remainder of his life, as a British subject, still under the flag of old England. The efforts which are being made to render the people of Great Britain more familiar with Canada, we believe, be speedily attended with the best results. But in these reports British Columbia is in no way taken into account. She is not known all in the labor markets of the old world as a real competitor for a share of their thoughts and the new world as a field for the exercise of the dormant energies of the tens of thousands of able-bodied men and women huddled together in the over-crowded towns and cities of the British Isles. If it be true that the Dominion Government have appropriated the sum of ten thousand dollars as British Columbia's share of the fund set aside for the purpose of promoting the cause of immigration, would it not be well to consider whether or not it is advisable to adopt a course similar to that pursued by Ontario and the other Provinces to make the climate, soil, and resources of this Province known to the people of the old country, with a view to inducing a portion at least of the great wave of immigration pouring in upon this continent? The advantages

To the Electors of Victoria District, including Victoria City, Victoria District, Esquimalt and Methosin.

GENTLEMEN—In a short time you will be called upon to elect two members to represent you in the House of Commons, and as many electors have expressed to me a desire that I should offer myself as a candidate for that honorable position, I now solicit your suffrages assuring you that if elected, no effort on my part shall be spared to advance your interests at Ottawa or to assemble in legislation for the advancement of the whole Dominion.

Politically I am in favor of giving a generous support to the present Canadian Administration, and should therefore advocate the national importance of the Railway being terminated at Esquimalt. I shall urge the establishing of a Quarantine Hospital at caae, the opening an Immigration Agency at Victoria, the building of a Lighthouse at the entrance to, and the Dredging of Victoria Harbor, I should endeavor if necessary to obtain an increased guarantee for the Dry Dock, and should point out the benefits and importance of completing the Railroad from the Pacific Lake Superior, (at least) in the shortest possible time.

From present information upon the subject it appears there is little prospect of both Houses being in Session this year at the same time, but should it prove otherwise and should I be elected to the Commons, I should feel in honor bound, (although with great reluctance) to resign my present seat in the Local House and enable another representative to take my place.

I remain respectfully,
Your obedient
ROBERT BRAVEN.

RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

(From the Toronto Mail.)

Ottawa, June 6.

The Railway Committee met to-day at noon. The consideration of the Bill incorporating the Canadian Pacific and the Intercolonial Railway Companies was resumed. The fifth clause, where the Committee left off at last meeting, was again taken up. Some conversation occurred as to the right of Parliament to exempt private property from the payment of taxes in the Provinces.

Dr. Furrer said that as he was not a lawyer, he offered an opinion with extreme diffidence; but it struck him that the power was vested in Parliament to exempt property from taxation in every part of the Dominion.

Mr. Mackenzie took the contrary view, holding that Parliament had no right to make exemptions in any of the Provinces.

Mr. Macdonald thought it strange if every municipality in the country could exercise the power of exemption, that the highest authority in the land, had no such power.

Mr. Holton said Parliament had power to exempt in any territory which now belonged to the Dominion, and was not exempt from the jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislatures.

It was a question, however, whether it was expedient to make such an exemption for an indefinite period. It must be remembered that this railway bill would remain for all time, and that Provinces which might hereafter be organized might find it to be a grievance if they were debarred from taxing property that had become valuable.

He was in favor, in order to promote the construction of the road, now that Parliament had decided that it should be constructed, to exempt it from taxation; but he thought the time should be limited.

Sir George Cartier said that all public works belonging to the Dominion were exempted from provincial taxation, and it might be that this railway could be placed upon the same footing, if it were declared to be a public work, although it might actually belong to private company.

Mr. Mackenzie had no doubt the Provincial Legislatures would pass an Act exempting from taxation, but it was a question whether they would do so for an indefinite time. They would, he thought, be disposed to fix a limit.

Sir George Cartier said that of the 2,700 miles which constituted the total length of the road, more than 1,800 would be within the territory of the Dominion. Parliament could exempt all that part from taxation. There would be 900 or 900 in British Columbia, and 100 or 200 in Ontario, and he would not suppose there would be any difficulty in obtaining an exemption for them.

Mr. Mackenzie said there would be much more of the railway in Ontario than that. If the Chairman had studied the geography of the country he would have found that there were more miles in Ontario than in British Columbia.

Sir George Cartier pointed out the importance of making the exemption in order to aid the company in raising money to carry out the undertaking. The fact that the Grand Trunk had been exempted from taxation was a precedent that had greatly affected people in England who had money to invest in railways.

Mr. Abbott said he had an amendment to propose, which he thought would meet the views of the committee. It was to make the clause read as follows: "The building, right of way, permanent way, rolling stock, and earnings of the company, and all property thereof, except the lands granted, or to be granted by any Government in aid of the said railway, shall be exempt from taxation in any Province hereafter to be constituted from the territory of the Dominion under any law, ordinance or by-law of any provincial, local or municipal authority, and shall be a privilege that no such exemption should continue beyond the date of the organization of a new Province without the sanction of the Legislature of such Province. This would recognize the principle of the Provincial right in the matter, but he did not think any Province would refuse to continue the exemption if it would facilitate the construction and working of the road.

Mr. Nathan said the Legislature of British Columbia would offer no objection to exempting the line of the railway from taxation.

Mr. Holton said that even although the Provinces did consent, it was not expedient to legislate in such a way as to deprive them of all power for ever of taxing the road.

Sir George Cartier said every power should be given in order to assist the company to raise the additional money necessary to construct the road.

Mr. Francis Jones said no obstacle should be thrown in the way of the company, and if it would facilitate its operations in raising money, the exemption should be granted.

Sir John Macdonald having entered the room, and the arguments on either side having been recapitulated, said the exemption should be made for a limited period, say twenty-five years after the completion of the road. It might cause difficulty in the future if the new Provinces were deprived of all power of taxing property which might then be extremely valuable. They would be liable then to overlook the fact that they owed their existence in a great measure to the railway.

Sir George Cartier suggested that the limit should be fixed at fifty years.

Mr. Holton said he was not particular about the time, but he certainly thought there should be some limitation.

Mr. Abbott then added the words "For twenty years after the completion of the said railway," and in this shape the clause was adopted.

The seventh and eighth clauses were also adopted. The ninth clause authorizing the company to accept money as a shareholder, making an arrangement with the Government, was then put.

Mr. Abbott moved to strike out the words "for the time being whether provisional or elected," in the last part of the clause, and substitute "which shall be elected by the shareholders." The effect of this amendment would be that if the company dealt with the Government, it would be as an organized company, and not as a provisional company, with provisional directors making a provisional arrangement.

Some conversation followed, Sir George Cartier and others opposing the amendment, which, upon being put to a vote, was lost upon a division of 14 to 12. The clause was then adopted, as well as the tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth, the eleventh being so amended as to give the company power to increase their stock to $50,000,000, instead of $100,000,000. On the fifteenth, allotting the stock of the company as follows:—44 per cent. to Ontario, 32 to Quebec, 10 to Nova Scotia, 8 to New Brunswick, 3 to British Columbia, and 2 to Manitoba.

Sir George Cartier took exception to the ground that there should be a larger allotment to British Columbia and Manitoba. Mr. DeCosmos said there were capitalists in British Columbia to build half the road, but the Province was almost excluded from the allotment. He thought the shares should be distributed to the different Provinces in proportion to the number of miles to be built in those Provinces.

Mr. Holton asked if the hon. gentleman would accept the converse proposition, that British Columbia should be requested to take half the shares.

Mr. DeCosmos would certainly have no objection to that. (Laughter)

Sir George Cartier thought ten per cent. at least should be allotted to the Western Provinces. There were people there who were making money very fast, and who might desire to have a larger amount of stock than was set down for them in the clause.

Mr. Abbott pointed out that there would be forty millions of stock altogether, but this allotment referred only to the first ten millions subscribed. There would be plenty for all the provinces, and for everybody who wanted to subscribe. There was nothing in the clause to prevent capitalists in British Columbia or Manitoba subscribing at Toronto or Montreal, if the proportion allotted to those provinces were not sufficient.

Mr. DeCosmos thought the minimum amount allotted to British Columbia would be a million.

Mr. Woods did not see any necessity for allotment at all, and he thought it a mistake to have put the words in the bill.

Sir George Cartier thought it fair that the company should prove that it was not intended that one Province should take up the whole stock.

Mr. Abbott said that they proposed to alter the bill, and give to Manitoba five per cent. instead of three.

Mr. D. A. Smith (Selkirk) thought five per cent. would be quite enough for Manitoba.

After some further discussion, Mr. Abbott said that he would amend the Bill so as to give six per cent. of the stock to British Columbia, and five to Manitoba.

The reduction in Ontario and Quebec, and allowing New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to remain as they were.

Mr. DeCosmos said that the people of British Columbia would stand aloof unless a sufficient amount of stock were allotted to them to give them vote in the management.

as it was feared that otherwise a few individuals might get control and freeze out the smallest subscribers.

The clause as amended was adopted. The other clauses down to clause thirty-three inclusive were also adopted.

On clause thirty-four, which provided for the payment of six per cent interest on the amount of the paid capital during the construction of the railway and works, Mr. Abbott objected to the payment of interest out of the capital.

Mr. Holton said that he had considered this matter for several days, and while abstractly he agreed with his hon. friend, (Mr. Abbott) in considering it objectionable to exempting the payment of interest out of the capital, yet looking at the matter in a practical way, it seemed to him that the question was how best they could facilitate the raising of money. Any one of them would understand that, if they were to build a house, and a furnace went on the construction money expended must be paid in some way. Now the real question was whether a capitalist would be more likely to regard with favor a provision which would give him a return for his money out of the capital on an investment from which he could by no possibility realize anything until the completion of the work.

Mr. Abbott withdrew his objection and the clause was adopted without amendment.

Clause 38 was altered to allow no director to hold more than one proxy. The remaining clauses of the bill were adopted with the exception of the 52nd, which provided a limit of two years for the time at which the stock might be subscribed. It was struck out.

The committee adjourned at two o'clock to meet again to-morrow at noon.

THE SALARIES OF OUR JUDGES.—Sir John A. Macdonald, in his reply to Mr. Blake, one of the leaders of the Opposition in the Ottawa Commons, stated, the reason he had only asked the House to vote the salaries of the present judges of British Columbia, was that he fancied it would be the easy duty of the new Parliament to consider the salaries of the Superior Court, which were not in a satisfactory state at the present time; therefore he had not put in any salaries for vacancies by death. If it should be thought well to provide for such contingencies, he would recommend $4,000 per annum for Chief Justice, and $3,500 for Puisne Judges.

The salaries of the present judges.—Chief Justice, (His Lordship Mr. Begbie), and the Puisne Judge, (Hon. Mr. Crease), were fixed by the Imperial Government, and could not be reduced during their life time. He had inserted one Puisne Judge from the fact that he had had communication with the Lieutenant-Governor on the importance of having a third judge. He thought it was in the highest degree desirable that there should be a court of three in consequence of having only two judges—there might be frequent failures of justice, by difference of opinion. Sir John said he was under the impression the Local Legislature of B. C. had passed an Act with that provision, but the certified copies had not been forwarded up to that point, and he therefore provided for the additional judge.

Was ever any new costume more critical than the new "Dolly Varden"? If a lady wants to be noticed in the street, she has only to put on one of those bright-colored garments, and all eyes are directed toward her. One must possess considerable courage to meet the attention with graceful unconsciousness.

The following is a graphic description of a Dolly Varden: "The starboard sleek bore a yellow hop-vine in full leaf on a red ground, with a number of grey birds, badly mutilated by the seams, flying hither and yon in wild dismay at the approach of a black leviathan. The making up of the garment scattering truant scholars up the sides and on the skirt, while a country poultry fair and a group of American hunting dogs, badly demoralized by the girths, gave the skirt a remarkable appearance. The left sleeve had on it the alphabet in five different languages."

GOLD AND COAL IN INDIA.—The Bangalore Gazette, publishes the following brief but important announcement: General Pollock has remitted to Calcutta several specimens of gold-bearing quartz found in the neighborhood of Candabar. Mineralogists consider the quartz to contain the precious metal; mining operations are being energetically pushed on in the Nizam's dominions. The results up to date are said to be satisfactory.

FOR THE MAINLAND.—The Enterprise, Capt. McNeil, left yesterday morning with the up-country mails, express and the following passengers: Mrs. Raymer, Mrs. Clate, Miss Clarkson, Mrs. Clarke, Postoffice Inspector Dewe, E. Brown, Schooley, F. Dickinson and Dr. Bowden.

HON. DR. CARROLL'S "maiden speech" in the Senate Thursday was in every respect most creditable to him and to the Province, of which he is a leading representative. Now that Dr. Carroll has "broken the ice," we hope to hear from him often.—Ottawa Citizen, May 31st.

CROUSE.—Sportsmen who have been through the country districts report the young grouse very numerous this season.

The Water Cure and Small-Pox.

Dr. Gilbert B. Champlin, formerly of the United States army, gave Dr. Gleason of the water cure establishment, Elmira, New York, the following facts in regard to the method of treatment adopted by the Indians of the country: "In the year 1813, while the army lay near Buffalo, a body of friendly Indians were encamped at no great distance from the main army; information was received that small-pox had broken out amongst the Indians, and three or four surgeons were detached to go and attend upon them. I was one of them, and we went off at once, and commenced our medical treatment, according to the rule laid down in our books,—for at that time I knew nothing but what I had learned from my books; cathartics, tetrifuges, diaphoretics, etc., were given, in hope to allay the violence of the virus, but we soon found ourselves in trouble from a new and unexpected circumstance. In spite of all our exertions, some of the Indians would go and plunge head foremost into a neighboring creek of cold water, in some instances when the eruption was at its height. We remonstrated with the chiefs of the tribes; begged and pleaded of them to refrain from such awful practices; we told them they would surely die, but all such persuasions proved of no effect, and they continued such practices daily in spite of us. It was finally concluded that I should go to the Surgeon-General, and lay our grievances before him, and obtain his instructions in the matter. I accordingly waited on him, and told him that nearly half of our patients were plunging in cold water once or twice a day. He agreed with us, that our work was of great chance to die, but said, they are an untamable set of creatures. You must go back, sir, and do with them the best you can. I immediately returned, and continued our treatment according to the rule laid down in our books, poth, powders, and skill, a number that we treated died; but to the astonishment of us all every one of them that plunged into the cold water recovered; their skin was less pitted, and they came up a strong as well."

PRIZE.—In Mr. Jangerman's window is displayed the first prize to be given to lady purchasers of tickets for the St. Andrew's and Caledonian picnic on the 4th of July. It is a most tempting looking fine gold locket and chain, and if anything besides the popularity of the Scottish Gathering was required to bring the presence of the fair ones on the grounds, this choice article of jewelry ought to "fetch them." A second prize also awaits a fortunate guesser; it is an article equally useful as the first, and possesses the novelty of its being the first time a lottery gift. All should secure tickets.

In common with all free thinking and unprejudiced persons, the Quebec Chronicle regards the five years record of the Dominion Government as one, not only commendable, but in many respects, remarkable. Our contemporary is objecting to provide for the payment of the achievements, and pays well deserved tributes to Sir John, who guides the Dominion "Ship-of-State," Sir Francis Hincks, and Messrs. Langerin and Mitchell.

THE SAN JUAN BOUNDARY.—At any time hence almost, we may hear of the decision of the Emperor of Germany with regard to the sovereignty of the Island of San Juan. The English answer to the American case was presented on the 10th, and the American reply was handed in following day. The Crown jurists will be in a position very shortly to advise His Majesty, who will render judgment, in all probability, within a month.

SINGLE WICKET MATCH.—Mr. Price, of the Mainland, and Mr. Guerra, of the B. O. Club, Island, played a single wicket match at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon. In the first innings Mr. Price made one run and Mr. Guerra nothing. In the second innings Mr. Price went out for a duck's egg; Guerra made a swipe for two, which was the match. Betting was six to four on Guerra.

CENSURE.—The Cemetery Board met yesterday at the office of the Secretary. Present: Messrs. Rithet, Turner and McTiernan. Several communications were received and considered, one being a petition from the residents of James Bay, against the locating of the cemetery in that locality. By-laws are being drawn up for the guidance of the Board.

CORONATION DAY.—This holiday, 28th June, used to be set apart in Victoria, some years since, as a gala day. Its proximity to Dominion Day has, however, almost set it into oblivion, and it would undoubtedly have passed unnoticed, but that we were reminded of the day by a Royal Salute from H. M. S. Scout.

DR. ABRON, Oculist, Aurist, and Physician for chronic diseases, will be at the Pacific Hotel, Olympia, from June 29th until the 8th of July, and at his apartments, corner Third and Morrison streets, Portland, from the 12th of July until the 12th of August.

It is whispered that the Duke of Edinburgh is about to follow the example of his sister Louise, and select a partner from his mother's subjects. The young and lovely daughter of the wealthiest of English dukes is spoken of as the intended.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—We are requested to state that collections will be made after morning and evening service to-morrow, to defray the expenses of the new roof which has recently been put on St. John's Church.

NATURALIZATION.—We learn that several of our citizens, German, American, and other nationalities, have taken, and are taking the necessary steps to become subjects of the country in which they reside.

We would wonder what induces Dr. Gleason the clothier of Government street to advertise, as everyone is aware that he keeps the best fashionable made clothing store north of San Francisco.

The present cemetery is ordered to be closed on the 1st of September; the new Board will have to bestir itself, to have new grounds selected and ready for sepulture by that date.

The quarantine vessels—Prince Alfred and Emma—are short of actual necessities, water, etc., and communication with the port is as good as prohibited.

A Washington dispatch states that Bancroft Davis telegraphed to the State Department yesterday. He had on Tuesday submitted the instructions, sent him on last Monday, to the Board of Arbitrators, considering all claims presented by the U. S., and wanted them to decide upon the amount due us for alleged violation of the Rules of Neutrality during the war.

Lord Tenterden replied that the British Government had instructed him to dispute the statement of the American Agent, claiming that England had acted upon the demand of the United States for an award of the gross sum of the disputed claims for money awards for the loss to marine insurance, prolongation of the war, and other indirect claims. Tenterden further contended that England was in no way culpable, her Commissioners had already expressed their regret, which is recorded in the Treaty, but if the United States still insisted upon a money award for indefinite claims, then England would enter objections to the Tribunal was not empowered to decide anything but the amount due by her to the United States, for violation of the Rules of Neutrality, acted upon in the eighth article of the treaty. He concluded he must submit the American argument to his Government before assenting to the Tribunal proceeding, and asked an adjournment to Thursday.

Teachers' Certificates.

EDITOR STANDARD:—The new Board of Education has granted seven certificates to teachers without examination. Now this mode of proceeding may be legal, but in the opinion of the writer it is neither fair nor wise. The Education Board is possessed of the finest sense of honor, I have no doubt; but that some teachers should have to be examined, and others allowed to teach without that income trial, is a feature not very palatable to the parties examined. All should be served alike. If the teachers who held certificates are so well qualified, why are they afraid, or at least unwilling to stand an examination? The Board may mean well; but an examination teacher believes it a hardship, that distinction should be made. It is even undignified by some of those favored parties, that they would not be examined by the B. O. Board of Education; it would be to teach without that income trial, is a feature not very palatable to the parties examined. All should be served alike.
